

One Call Medical Recognized for Exemplary Workplace Practices

Prestigious Alfred P. Sloan Award Presented at Ceremony Hosted by Morris County Chamber of Commerce

Parsippany, NJ (November 2, 2009) – One Call Medical (OCM), the nation’s premier leader in diagnostic testing for workers’ compensation, today announced that it received the Alfred P. Sloan Award for Business Excellence in Workplace Flexibility at an award ceremony sponsored by the Morris County Chamber of Commerce.

The Alfred P. Sloan Awards recognize and honor organizations that are using workplace flexibility as a strategy to increase workplace effectiveness and yield positive business results. Applicants were evaluated in a rigorous two-step process, first comparing the employer’s application to nationally representative data from Families and Work Institute’s National Study of Employers, and then corroborating the employer responses through a survey of employees.

One Call Medical’s innovative workplace practices include fostering multi-dimensional diversity, effective work-life balance, and a team environment. By incorporating this approach into its business strategy, One Call Medical has cultivated a positive work environment that has supported its continued growth and success—even in today’s tough economy.

“One Call Medical is providing innovative policies in their workplace for the benefit of their employees and its business,” said Ellen Galinsky, President, Families and Work Institute.

“We are thrilled to receive this recognition,” said Kent Spafford, CEO of One Call Medical. “Collectively, our workplace policies are geared to a holistic approach, recognizing that employees have personal responsibilities and demands. We provide programs and resources that improve productivity and support effective work-life strategies. This approach has enabled us to attract and promote diverse talent while retaining engaging employees who contribute their best—and are successful—at work and in their personal lives.”
